I. Practice vs Live Opponents

Playing a live opponent is the best way to prepare you for real competition, but can also be the hardest to arrange consistently. Take advantage of this time when you can.

Make sure opponent's email matches their DartConnect Membership Account for stat recording & My Leaderboard
What makes a good practice partner?

- Similar or better skill level than yourself

- Shares your goals for improvement and is training for the same competitions

- Available regularly at a set time

Scrimmage and Spar like it's the real thing…

- Simulate a competition environment, don't be too comfortable and try to play in public venues with noise & distractions
- Play the match format you are practicing for – see Sec. IV – Programming Match Formats

II. Practice vs Online Opponents

When your Live Opponent is too far away or can't leave their home, Competing Online is the next best thing.

See Next Page for Online Match Setup Instructions

Online Play Tips:

- Focusing on the game can make you forget you are playing online
- If not using a webcam, use a speakerphone so you can talk if necessary
- You can still play simulated competition formats – see Sec. IV – Programming Match Formats

Why is a webcam optional?

- For practice you should not be concerned with cheating, otherwise consider finding a more trustworthy opponent
- No camera means less technical know-how required and much less chance of bandwidth related problems

Make sure you add online opponent to your player library with their DartConnect Membership email for stat recording & My Leaderboard

III. Practice vs DartConnect's AI Opponent

No humans to play? DartConnect has you covered.

See Next Page for "vs DartConnect" Setup Instructions

Computer Opponent Tips:

- Choose a starting skill level that is slightly above your own

- Increase the opponent level over time and challenge yourself to reach higher performance

- Use "No Delay" to speed up practice sessions, but leave delay on to simulate a more realistic pace of play

- Occasionally play vs Level 11 or 12 to stretch yourself and simulate playing a top professional

- Once in the "flow" of the game, you may even forget you are playing vs a computer

- Use "Random" start to simulate the Shoot for Bull

III. How to Play vs DartConnect
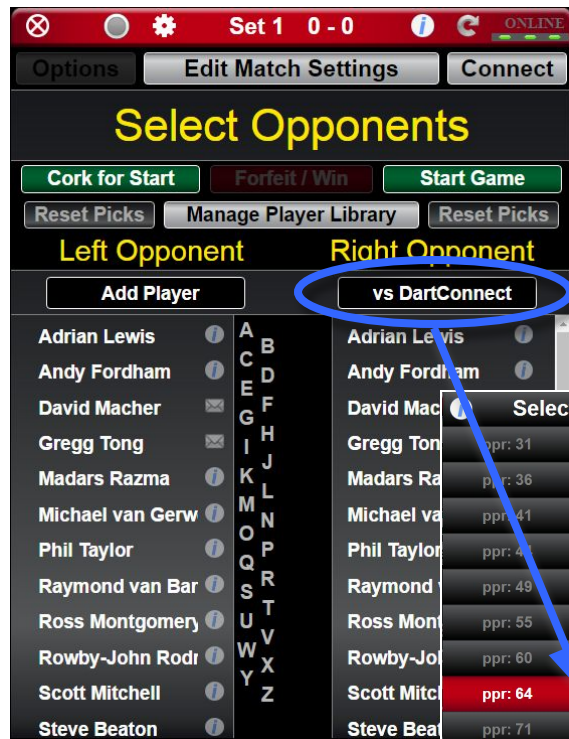

Select
"vs DartConnect" from the Opponent Screen
Competing Against DartConnect

Select DartConnect Level
When competing against DartConnect, select the level of difficulty using the corresponding three-dart average as a guide. Once a match has been initiated, you can adjust the difficulty by tapping the opponent name ("DC 5.0") in the header.

Adaptive Play Option
This allows DartConnect to adjust its level of difficulty between games, adapting to your level of play. DartConnect will index in small increments until it finds equilibrium with your current proficiency.

No Delay Option
DartConnect was designed to simulate real match play, allowing the player to return to the throw line and "watch" DartConnect's turn. If you want to speed up game play, select this option. Note: Players will lose their "grace period" for correcting miss-keys, requiring them to edit prior turns AFTER DartConnect finishes.

Auto Alt Start Option
This allows DartConnect to automatically start the next game, without any input from the player. The match will stop at the end of each set, with Auto Start resuming with the next.

No Recap Email Option
Prevents the match recap from being delivered via email. The recap is still available in the members match log.

3 Dart Avg (PPR)

Points Per Round defines a player's '01 three-dart average. This is the most accurate measure of a player's overall ability.

A player's shooting consistency is determined by the First Nine Darts thrown in '01 competition. Average Finish determines a player's shooting accuracy, by averaging their '01 double-out scores.

Opponent's 3 Dart Avg

The opponent's PPR reflects how well each player competes with the member. The opponent's DartConnect Average (DCA) is how well they play against ALL players, including non-members.

3 Dart Avg

The member's PPR reflects how well they compete with each opponent. The member's DartConnect Average (DCA) is how well they compete with all opponents listed in the leaderboard, including non-members. This can be found in the section header and the "red row" when sorting by member PPR.

Record

Win/Loss records can be misleading. The opponent's three-dart average (O-3DA) is the collective average of all opponents faced by this player during the season/event. Use this to benchmark winning percentages.

If the opponents have played any handicapped legs, they will noted in the HLC column.
